THE MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF THE MGs OF BALTIMORE, MD

JULY 1, 2019

From El Presidente:

A lot has happen in the past month, we loss long time member Len Picton. Len had been a member since the early 90's, he served as MGOB's Rallye Master for many years, leading groups of members to the Roadster Factory Summer Party to run the TSD events. He was in charge of laying out and running our Annual "Get the Dust-Off" event, now in its 30th year. Oh, don't forget the Mason-Dixon Challenge Rallye which took place between us and LANCO for a few years. He setup and manned the TSD Rallye at MG 98, he shared his rallye skills to novices and pros at his "Rallye School". I can still see us sitting around the campfire, when I say us, I mean people like Wayne & Linda Norman, Chip & Ashley, Brian & Denise Krause, the Jefferson's, Bill Henry, Michael Egliskis, Joe Clark, Bob Bates, Kenski, Alex Ollerman, Kurt just to name a few of the many MGOB members that got to hear him tell "Black Bart" stories that took at least 20 minutes before he got to the punchline.

As most of you know, Len has been dealing with the effects of ALS for at least the last 10 years. He did this bravely as far as, most of us could tell. He held his own wake a few years back so his friends could say good bye. I never found him down or depressed, but I am sure this has been tough for him and Lee and don't forget Jason.

Len's body was donated to science and Lee said they may do something in the future in the way of service, she'll let us know, but the wake has already been held. If I hear anything I'll share via the Octagram and our Facebook Page. To see Len talk rallying checkout his YouTube video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QhhSBXAv9po&t=605s> R.I.P Buddy.

On a lighter note, while MGOB's presence at MG 2019 wasn't great, we still managed to take home some gold and even bronze from Traverse City. Alex Ollerman and Paul Handley each got first in their class and Vicki Egliskis won third for crafts. For those of you that missed MG 2019, there's always next year's event, MG 2020 is Calgary, Alberta, Canada. More information to follow.

Finally, there are many events coming up, so checkout our events calendar, both here and on our website at www.mgsofbaltimore.org for a list and mark your calendars for:

TECH SESSION

Randy's tech session at the June meeting was about generators and alternators, changing polarity from positive ground to negative ground, and parts availability.

New Members

Welcome back - Roger Stemier, MGTC

People born in the 50's have lived in 7 decades, 2 centuries & 2 millenniums. We had the best music, fastest cars, Drive-in theaters, soda fountains & happy days. And we are not even that old yet, we're just that cool.

Electrical Theory

By Joseph Lucas

Positive ground depends on proper circuit functioning, which is the transmission of negative ions by retention of the visible spectral manifestation known as “smoke”. Smoke is the thing that makes electrical circuits work. We know this to be true because every time one lets the smoke out of an electrical circuit, it stops working. This can be verified repeatedly through empirical testing.

For example, if one places a copper bar across the terminals of a battery, prodigious quantities of smoke are liberated and the battery shortly ceases to function. In addition, if one observes smoke escaping from an electrical component such as a Lucas voltage regulator, it will also be observed that the component no longer functions. The logic is elementary and inescapable!

The function of the wiring harness is to conduct the smoke from one device to another. When the wiring springs a leak and lets all the smoke out of the system, nothing works afterward.

Starter motors were considered unsuitable for British motorcycles for some time largely because they consumed large quantities of smoke, requiring very unsightly large wires. It has been reported that Lucas electrical components are possibly more prone to electrical leakage than their Bosch, Japanese or American counterparts. Experts point out that this is because Lucas is British, and all things British leak. British engines leak oil, British shock absorbers, hydraulic forks and disk brake systems leak fluid, British tires leak air and British Intelligence leaks national defense secrets.

Therefore, it follows that British electrical systems must leak smoke. Once again, the logic is clear and inescapable.

In conclusion, the basic concept of transmission of electrical energy in the form of smoke provides a logical explanation of the mysteries of electrical components especially British units manufactured by Joseph Lucas, Ltd.

And remember: “A gentleman does not motor about after dark.” Joseph Lucas “The Prince of Darkness” 1842-1903

Young Car Show Judges Are a Huge Success

By Mike Cook, Peachtree MG Registry

If you own a Little British Car, it is almost certain that you have asked yourself or have been involved in a discussion that asks the question, "How can we get the youth involved?" This question, in some form, may have been answered at the Southeast British Car Festival, hosted by the Peachtree MG Registry. It was held in beautiful Appalachian country, the northeast corner of Georgia, just a few miles from the North Carolina state line at the Dillard House in Dillard, Georgia.

Hagerty Classic Car Insurance has for some time promoted their Youth Judging program, which became the cornerstone of what followed. Contact was made with the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee School. A very enthusiastic teacher, Madame Anne Shook, emailed students and asked the all over the field, asking questions, sitting in cars, starting engines, hitting the horn. Kodak moments were happening everywhere. Questions were varied. How fast will it go? How old is it? What company made it? Many students had never heard of these cars before. One amusing thing occurred often, as many of the judges were unable to open the door from the outside, not realizing in most cases you pressed a button and pulled. Opening the door from the inside was again interesting, as some thought that the window crank was the way to open the door. I think that our cars are safe as no one knew how to use a stick shift, which was not a surprise.

While all of this was going on, the judges chose their favorite car based on categories on the ballot, such as color, engine, interior, wheels, favorite owner, and finally what question, "Who wants to be a judge for a day?" Within a short period of time, twenty scholars had volunteered.

The weather forecast and the track of Hurricane Florence was the main topic of conversation up until show day, but the sun shone and the show went ahead. Over 100 Little British cars were staged on the field. The judges arrived and after a short introductory meeting where T-shirts, caps, and ballots were handed out, they were let loose onto the field.

The owners had been previously advised what was going to happen, but no one could have imagined how successful it was to be. In no time at all they were talking to owners car would they like to take home. One could see from the crossing outs on the ballots that as they walked around the field minds were changed, new cars were chosen, not just once, but many times. Obviously, to them judging was a serious matter. When it came to handing in their ballots, a good number of the youths were still on the field enjoying themselves so much so they had to be rounded up.

One has to remember that these judges did not know any of the cars, nor their owners, which meant that their choices of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd were selected with a completely open mind.

All of the ballots were in and the winners known, but not

DC BRITISH RELIABILITY RUN

What is a British Reliability Run?

For decades, the British have held "reliability runs" designed to subject various classes of automobiles to a series of fairly grueling road tests, including back roads, dirt roads, woodland trails, fording streams and the like. Other than breaking cars, the primary goal of British reliability runs is to raise money for children's charities.

About a decade ago, a group of British sports car enthusiasts centered in the Detroit area decided to emulate (at least to a degree) their British cousins by starting America's British Reliability Run (ABRR) for classic British cars covering 600+ miles over back roads, run over the course of three days, while retaining its British counterparts' primary goal of raising money for a children's charity. At present, ABRs are run in Pennsylvania, Colorado, New England and the Washington, DC area. All adhere to the same basic theme: exercise old British cars over the course of three days in order to raise money for a children's charity.

The DC Run

In the prior two DC ABR runs the teams raised over $83K for our children's charity. The 2019 version is limited to 50 teams driving cars that are at least 25 years old. It will run October 18 - 20 (Friday morning through Sunday noon), rain or shine, covering around 650 miles of back roads through Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia. It is neither a race nor a TDS rally. It is a tour driven at each driver's own selected pace.

The DC event will be run "clover leaf" style, starting and finishing each day at a hotel near Winchester, VA. There will be a prearranged lunch stop on the road the first two days and a group dinner Saturday night. The third day, Sunday, the route will be shorter, ending up around noon near Middletown, VA for a celebratory brunch. Go to www.dcbritishreliability.org for further details, including photos of prior year's cars.

Tech Tips... from John Flannery

Sticking Clutch? Have a sticking clutch? One that does not release quite right when you let off the clutch pedal? A very simple thing to consider before trying to remove the trans to figure out what is hanging up is the rubber hydraulic brake line between the master and slave.

Those hoses are built up of materials like cloth and rubber in layers. If the hydraulic hose interior layer gets a leak in it, say from allowing the slave cylinder to dangle from it, or just old age, fluid can get between the lamination's. Or the inner lamination can rib and act as a flap or check valve.

When you press your clutch pedal, fluid pressure between the lamination's increases, sometimes causing the walls of the hose to swell up like a balloon on the lid of the hose and collapse the inner walls of the hose upon themselves. This is not obvious externally, it is the inner walls of the hose with the failure.

In order for the fluid to leave the slave cylinder and return to the master cylinder when you release the clutch, the fluid pressure between the lamination's must be relieved through the tear (or pinhole) first in order for the id of the hose to reopen and relieve the pressure in the slave cylinder.

The specific nature of the failure varies from case to case. Larger perforation? Quicker release. Pinhole sized leak? Feels like it takes forever for the clutch to fully release. Generally, as that line restricts, you should also notice a corresponding increase in pressure at the clutch pedal. This causes it to be difficult for fluid to flow in either direction.

I've seen this with brake hoses too. It can cause a caliper to remain engaged and burn up your new brakes and rotors. (eChatter; 3-11)

The Shenandoah Valley British Car Club is having its 38th annual British Car Festival in Waynesboro, VA. October 4 and 5. It will be held in the Riverview Park, which is just minutes away from the Blue Ridge Parkway and Skyline Drive.

There will be a reception Friday night from 6pm to 9pm. The show field will open at 9am Saturday morning, with door prizes and class trophies awarded at 3pm. Last year we had about 130 cars. All British cars and motorcycles are welcome, as well as some other marques with British connections.

Here's the link to the festival web page. It has information on accommodations, directions, categories, and registration, as well as photos from past shows.
