MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF THE MGs of BALTIMORE, MD

JULY 2025

www.mgsofbaltimore.org

From El Presidente:

The Keystone British Car Club held their 31st Annual British Motorcar Gathering event on Sunday, June 8th, 2025, at Hellertown, PA. Tony Philips, drove his MG TD up and I rode along with Rich Polan in his MGB-LE. We stopped for breakfast at the Spready Oak Restaurant near Rising Sun. After filling our tanks, we headed north on US 1 to PA 10 to US 30 and on to Hellertown. It took us about 2.5 hrs. to get there. While showers were in the forecast, we only encountered sprinkles on the way home. The gathering is a laidback event nestled in the trees with about one hundred British cars in attendance, which was down somewhat due to the weather calling for rain. It a non-voting event without classes or awards, except for special awards presented by the Club.

The St Georges Society of Baltimore has once again invited the MGs of Baltimore, Ltd. Car Club to take part in their annual polo match. The match is scheduled for Sunday, June 29th, 2025, at the Maryland Polo Club in Jarrettsville, MD. All open slots were filled by our members, and I will have a report on the event in the August issue of the Octagram.

The MGOB Summer Party will once again be hosted by Duff & Barbara Fowler on Sunday, August 10, 2025, starting at 1:00 p.m. Duff & Barbara are located at 913 Saint Anne Drive in Street, MD 21154. The Club will supply drinks, hotdogs, burgers and more. We ask that you bring a dish or dessert item to share along with your bathing suit. R.S.V.P. Duff & Barb at BKF88@aol.com or calling 410-399-0070.

The Central Pennsylvania British Car Club will be holding their 31st Annual British Car Festival on the weekend of August 23-24 in Altoona, PA. This is a wonderful time. For more info checkout their website at: <https://storage.googleapis.com/production-image-v1-0-4/984/1398984/M0dtJM10/212f3d6a823d4e23a257c80fcf9b30f7?fileName=British%20Car%20Club%20Flyer%202025%20pdf%201.pdf>

LANCO's Annual Taste of Britian gathering will be moving to a new location this year, look for the event flier in this issue of the Octagram This gathering has been a good, low-key event for many years and I am hoping the new location will work out even better for the LANCO's Club.

The British Car Club of Delaware will be holding their annual fall show at Bellanca Air Museum in New Castle, Delaware on September 13th. Look for a copy of the show flier in this issue.

The Delaware Valley Classic MG Club will hold their 20th Annual Fall show at Skippack Village, on Route 73 in Skippack, PA 19474 on Saturday, September 20th. Registration is now open at <https://dvcmg.square.site/product>

Finally, the 46th Annual "MGs On the Rocks" British Car Show & Parts Market is set for Saturday, September 27, 2025. On line registration is now open at <https://www.mgsofbaltimore.org> We will need volunteers to help with parking show cars and spectators along with helping with registration and both setting up and breaking down, so if you can lend a hand please contact either me at RGL2MGBGT@AOL.COM or Eric Reitz at REITZ1@AOL.COM

Editor's Notes...

Welcome to the July OCTAGRAM newsletter,

It's just after the solstice, as I write this, and the Middle-Atlantic Summer has descended on us in full force. The thermometer was 75 at dawn, and the air can be sliced with a knife. Yuck. We've had pretty good weather so far this spring...but I suppose there's no escaping the inevitability of nature. I hope everyone got plenty of driving in while it was cooler out.

One event I know nobody attended this June: Original British Car Day at Lily Pons in Adamstown. That's because OBCD was canceled suddenly in April, much to the chagrin of British car fans in the greater mid-Atlantic. It seems that the folks that owned the venue at Lily Pons decided to put the property on the market. With no suitable alternative venue, and no time to find one, the OBCD organizers had no alternative but to call off 2025's OBCD. We are all saddened by this sudden turn of events and hope to see Original British Car Day return next June, in a new location.

As partial recompence, I've assembled a "Photo Retrospective Car Show" in this month's Octagram, from some pictures taken at recent OBCDs. If anyone has any favorite pictures of British Car Day and would like to share them with us, feel free to email me (jcmellis@gmail.com) and I'll get them in the newsletter.

In other news, I'm happy to announce that my B's cylinder head and engine block are reunited, with a new head gasket and some fancy ARP studs holding everything together. So far, extensive road testing has shown coolant, oil, and combustion are all staying in their respective places and doing their assigned jobs. I have every hope that this will remain the case for the St. George's Society Polo Event on June 28. (Fingers crossed and unions jacked!)

The annual car activity calendar tends to thin out a bit in July. I guess this makes sense, since who wants to get into a hot, un-airconditioned car and sweat in traffic? (More so, if that car is a roadster!) But, lose not faith, honest reader...August will see an up-tick in events featuring Little British Cars. (A month of abstinence will make a person put up with a little heat and sweat.) Till then, great opportunity to putt about on your own in the cooler hours of the day or night. Take someone out for ice cream, go early to a Cars & Coffee, explore some shady country roads your unfamiliar with...there's no reason to not get out and knock-about in your MG. After all, isn't that what it was made for?

Till then, drive safe, check your oil, and I hope to see you out on the road!

- John

From the organizers of Original British Car Day...

“To all past and future Original British Car Day participants:

After 108 years Lilypons in Adamstown, Maryland will be closing at the end of March. This results in a change of plans for the Chesapeake Chapter of the New England MGT Register’s Original British Car Day (OBCD) which has been held there many years.

With the recent decision to close Lilypons, coupled with the traditional June date for holding OBCD, the event in 2025 has to be regrettably cancelled.

I know the British car enthusiasts look forward to this event so the 47th OBCD will return next year.”

While Original British Car Day is gone this year, it is most certainly not forgotten. To tide you over until next June (hopefully) and the return of OBCD at a new location, we have created a “virtual car show” from some of our favorite pictures and vehicles taken at recent events. We hope you enjoy...

ORIGINAL BRITISH CAR DAY - A Retrospective Car Show in Photographs

The following letter was received by Richard, in recognition of the contributions of our club's members to the success of The Quarryville Library's Annual Book Drive. The books were collected during the Get The Dust Off Rally this past May.

QUARRYVILLE LIBRARY
For Fun. For Learning. For Everyone.

May 15, 2025

Attn: Richard Liddick
MGs of Baltimore
5237 Glen Arm Road
Glen Arm, MD 21057

Dear Richard,

On behalf of the Friends of the Quarryville Library, thank you—and the entire MGs of Baltimore — for your generous donation of used books collected during your recent “Get the Dust Off” rally.

We were especially delighted by the number of children's books in the mix. So much so, in fact, that our volunteers bypassed the usual storage process and put them straight onto the shelves. They were being enjoyed by local families within hours of arriving—what a beautiful and immediate impact your club made.

I also want to share a bit of behind-the-scenes context. Unlike libraries in Baltimore or Harford Counties, which are fully funded by local government, Quarryville Library operates with much tighter margins. Donations like yours directly support our ability to serve the community—not just in spirit, but in actual dollars. Every book donated helps us raise funds, extend programs, and keep resources available for those who rely on us most.

Please extend our thanks to your club members for including us in your event. It's clear that the MGs of Baltimore are more than a car club—you're community partners, and your support helps us keep turning pages (literally and figuratively) for Quarryville readers of all ages.

With gratitude,

Michele Lefler

EXHAUST NOTE

Exhausted Mowing

I love the Spring. The flowers, the new leaves, the freshness of the Winter cleansed air. I even love mowing. I religiously complete my tractor tune-up with changing oil and filters and sharpening the blades. Then it's the end of April and time to mount up and complete that first Spring mow. I alter my consciousness, strap on my Sennheiser headphones, call up one of my many Spotify playlists and take that first ride around Casa Contenta.

For you that have not visited, let me set the picture for you. CJ and I live on a good-sized piece of ground covered with grass and bordered by the woods on all sides; except for what I refer to as the back 40 which runs down the hill toward the little lake at the foot of our little piece of heaven. The landscape was pretty rough when we got here, but we've spent the time to make it very nice, just like our neighbors in the isolated group of houses on Overlook Ct. Yes, we've all turned into suburban (Or is that urbane) farmers. We all have our different concepts of what makes a great lawn, and of course most all the others are of course wrong. They cut their grass too short, and it burns and gets weeds. (It's a lawn not a golf course) They wonder why I cut our grass at 4 inches. Why, because that's as high as I can raise my deck and I've modified it to even cut longer than 4.

Now is the Summer of our discontent

(Sorry Shakespeare). As you know we've had a nice wet spring and the rain keeps coming. It's really making everything green; that's including me as I've had to mow about twice a week to keep things in check. So, the joy of cruising on my Cub Cadet, listening to tunes and generally mellowing out has passed. Now, it's "damn - I must mow the yard again!!!" I notice the flawed configuration our landscape more and this chore has become a pretty tedious pain in the butt. The front yard makes me to run an autocross course requiring about a thousand turns (Maybe an exaggeration). The back 40 is just as bad and requires enumerable trips back and forth and up and down. A dizzying boring task. Sometimes I mow in circles just to break the monotony. (Also makes the neighbors think of crop circles and aliens)

I'm now looking to other solutions to this weekly or even biweekly chore. I've mowed enough yards as both man and boy that I feel I've done my share. (How about you?) I've investigated robot mowers before and a recent trip to France and seeing their use there has me considering them once again. I use a robot to vacuum my home, and it does a great job. You know me and technology; I love electric and batteries and please bring on more robots to do crap I don't like to do. A robot mower would never forget to mow, it would mow at night or whenever I wanted it too. No more gas cans. No more tractor tune-ups. This is sounding pretty good. But rj what are you going to do with that time and that feeling of accomplishment?

Rj are you crazy (Obviously a redundant question) these things cost a bunch of MONEY! Yes, they do, but have you priced a Cub Cadet lately. I found small robot mowers on Amazon for about $400, but they wouldn't do my lawn. I found a Husqvarna unit that will do over an acre at 4 inches, similar to the ones seen in France, for about 3 grand. Damn that's a lot of money, but is it? A new Cub from the Despot is going for about $2400, gas not included. CJ can't handle the Cub and one day I might not be able to. Can you imagine the cost of a lawn service coming from April to October? Seven months of mowing figures to about 30 weeks, or about 45 hours of my precious time here on earth. I would gladly pay you a grand for 45 more hours on earth, so if the robot last three years, and why wouldn't it, I'll break even. Who cares about breaking even, I won't be mowing and that's the point!

My tractor keeps a record of how many hours I've spent mowing. Here are the sad facts. I've spent 13 whole days mowing our place. It get's worse. That's 13 whole days. If you break that down into, just say the 8 hours of daylight, I've spent 39 days mowing. It gets worse. Like any landscaper will tell you; you shouldn't mow till after 4 in the afternoon. This lets the grass heal in the cool of the night and makes for a better lawn. So, reducing this mowing to just the two hours between 4 and 6, I've consumed 156 two-hour time blocks during perhaps the nicest part of the evening.

Wait rj, this is a car club newsletter, why are you bothering us with the suburban tale of woe? As I ride the Cadet around and around, I often think of our Little British Cars sitting in the garage. Are we spending more time mowing than driving? Let's say you mow once a week, and it takes an hour. That's 4 to 5 hours per month. I'll wager some cars don't get out that much and especially in the Summer. After 4 o'clock is the perfect time to exercise you LBC. So, here's your challenge. Make sure you drive your car as much as the tractor or mower. you owe it to yourself, and you won't even mind doing it twice a week.

Exhausted now so you can now go and listen to a Carole King song as performed by the Monkeys that's embedded in the title of this Note. I bet you will ponder at how we've all succumbed to what we once mocked.

rj.
